WEBINAR INTRO

The suddenness and almost immediate implementation of enforced work restrictions as a result of the pandemic may seem daunting to many and more specifically HR practitioners. It's a 'Great Pause' of normality.

For the first time in the 21st century short history we witness a "planet earth" halt. Businesses are most likely to shrink operations if not close shop. Unemployment ratios are still climbing. Poverty and food insecurity margins are doing the same. Looking at the Domino effect of things, Banks around the world are as well among the sectors highly impacted.

Credit Cards, loans, facilities default in general, is most likely to be recorded. Only solid, agile innovative banks will be able to overcome this Global Wave. A wave which facets & magnitude are yet to be unfold.

Freezing, panicking or acting like sitting ducks doesn't help. Covid-19 is here to stay.

It is reassuring that large numbers of companies and individuals had already embraced new ways of working before covid-19 made the whole world aware of this concept of social distancing.

A 'reset' is in the making and businesses are at different stages in their readiness plans.

It's still Time to Ask the question "Were We Ready for This Great Pause"
